They then post this old pic from their show in Cape Town
A few hours later, EW posts Joshs interview using pic from same day- he says it IS the crew behind it & its nothing but fan conspiracy theories (LMAOO)

*important to note that the day before, was the infamous interview of everyone breaking their necks to look at Louis when they were asked about RBB.
Since that was such a pathetic denial, it seems like they did the EW interview as damage control*

The next thing that happened is that of a Direction dream.

'He suddenly stopped the car, jumped out and ran over to us!

'He came inside and jested, "Is this a recruitment office? Can you help me find a job?."'

Somehow they managed some semblance of a sentence and said: 'You're doing pretty well already aren't you?'

MYTHS, LIES, AND DOWNRIGHT STUPIDITY

Get Out the Shovel– Why Everything You Know Is Wrong

MYTH: The media will check it out and give you the objective truth.

TRUTH: Many in the media are scientifically clueless, and will scare you to death. We don't do it on purpose. We just want to give you facts. But the people who bring us story ideas are alarmed. Then we get alarmed, and eager to rush that news to you.

We know that the scarier and more bizarre the story, the more likely it is that our bosses will give us more air time or a front-page slot. The scary story, justified or not, will get higher ratings and sell more papers. Fear sells. That's the reason for the insiders' joke about local newscasts: "If it bleeds, it leads."

Also, raising alarms makes us feel important.

Pfp change to Army of Lovers

The profile image has changed again, meaning that the birthday was only up for the 24th. Yup. Ok.

The new profile image features Army of Lovers, a Swedish band. There are a number of interesting things about Army of Lovers. The name of the band alludes to a documentary on gay rights activist Rosa von Praunheim. Alexander Bard is gay, and also a judge on Swedish Idol. 1D likely met him when they performed there in 2014. They have been very outspoken in their opposition to homophobia and have headlined Pride festivities. They have had several videos banned from MTV for being “high camp”. They were known for their outlandish costumes, camp videos, and have promoted same-sex marriage.

As a fun coincidence, they have a single titled Love Me Like a Loaded Gun

Pfp change to happy new year and Rbb as George Michael

(This is also hendall yacht stunt time)

January 8 2016

Pfp change to George Michael wearing the jacket he burns in Freedom 90
George Michael is continuously, heavily referenced throughout the years before and after this

Another tweet of rbb at bears head inn, 5 mins from Holmes chapel (and Harry is back home too)

Lyrics from the song:

"I think there's something you should know
I think it's time i told you so
There's something deep inside of me
There's someone else i've got to be
Take back your picture in a frame
Take back your singing in the rain
I just hope you understand
Sometimes the clothes do not make the man"

George Michael was forced to hide his sexuality for the vast majority of his career who was then forcibly outed as a way of damaging his career.

Michael also sued his label, Sony (One Direction have been signed to Syco, a branch of Sony,) for what he called a contract akin to slavery.

> Mr. Michael had filed suit against Sony a year and a half ago, contending that the eight-album contract he signed in 1988 was unfair under British and European Union law because it bound him to the company for up to 15 years and gave him no control over how his music would be marketed.

He vouched that he actively fought against the sex-icon image he was forced to maintain by the label and that in response he was punished with a lack of promotion of his albums.

Michaels argued that suing the label was the only way to attempt to save his career and emotional stability as

> "In fact, there is no such thing as resignation for an artist in the music industry," Mr. Michael said. "Effectively, you sign a piece of paper at the beginning of your career and you are expected to live with that decision, good or bad, for the rest of your professional life."

Pfp change to Donna Summer

MacArthur's Park is melting in the dark
All the sweet, green icing flowing down
Someone left the cake out in the rain
I don't think that I can take it
'cause it took so long to bake it
And I'll never have that recipe again
Oh, nooooo

This comes after rumored spottings of Harry with Louis at a bakery in London today. There have been no pictures so far, and a few of the spottings have been confirmed as trolls, but it's possible the first report was real. Interesting timing and coincidence with this profile image change! Profile image changes are often followed by a tweet, so let's see if we get anything and how that relates…

Also interesting about Donna Summer, from Wikipedia:

> In the mid-1980s, Summer was embroiled in a controversy. She allegedly had made anti-gay remarks regarding the then-relatively new disease, AIDS, which as a result had a significantly negative impact on her career. Summer, by this time a born-again Christian, was alleged to have said that AIDS was a punishment from God for the immoral lifestyles of homosexuals.[34][35] Some years later, Summer publicly denied that she had ever made any such comment, and in a letter to the AIDS campaign group ACT UP in 1989 said it was "a terrible misunderstanding." In explaining why she did not respond to Act Up sooner, Summer stated "I was unknowingly protected by those around me from the bad press and hate letters. If I have caused you pain, forgive me." She closed her letter with Bible quotes (from Chapter 13 of 1 Corinthians).

> After the release of the On the Radio album, Summer wanted to branch out into other musical styles, which led to tensions between her and Casablanca Records. Casablanca wanted her to continue to record disco only. Summer was upset with President Neil Bogart over the early release of the single "No More Tears (Enough is Enough)"; she had penned "Dim All the Lights" alone, and was hoping for a number-one hit as a songwriter. Not waiting until "Dim All the Lights" had peaked, or at least another month as promised; Summer felt it had detracted from the singles chart momentum. Summer and the label parted ways in 1980, and she signed with Geffen Records, the new label started by David Geffen. Summer had filed a 10-million-dollar suit against Casablanca; the label counter-sued. In the end, she did not receive any money, but won the rights to her own lucrative song publishing.

Pfp change to Andy Bell from Erasure
He was very vocal about not hiding his sexuality, but also not publicly speaking about it, and instead using his music to communicate……. Sound familiar?
Also right after this he confirms he's a larrie lol

January 20 2016

Time on the player is 2:01 which we assumed to be related to Harrys birthday, but it’s also national freedom day they are also playing Erasure

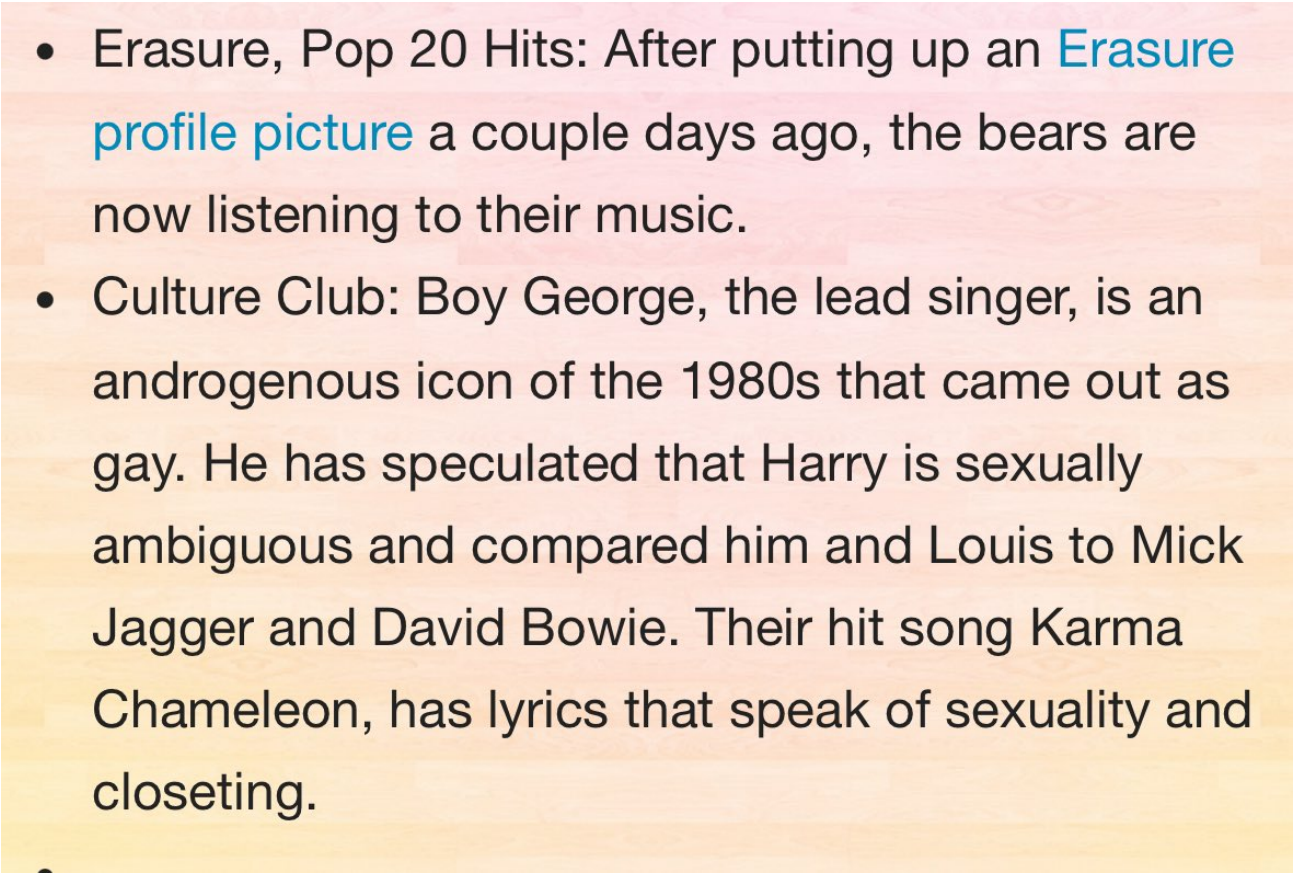
DVD



• Erasure, Pop 20 Hits: After putting up an Erasure profile picture a couple days ago, the bears are now listening to their music.
• Culture Club: Boy George, the lead singer, is an androgenous icon of the 1980s that came out as gay. He has speculated that Harry is sexually ambiguous and compared him and Louis to Mick Jagger and David Bowie. Their hit song Karma Chameleon, has lyrics that speak of sexuality and closeting.

January 22 2016

It was confusing to figure out at first because dates weren't matching up from Louis' tweets but we did end up finding out his son was born the day before on the 21st (he said the 22nd)

We also get the news that all the boys have officially left modest. So the 2:01 being Freedom day could’ve definitely related to this as well
